

Lighting the Way for Mr. Clause

Tn a rural town not far away, SWRE is lighting the way. It's 1937 and Christmas is near, but the magic didn't all come from Santa this year.

The linemen and Santa have been working long nights, all pulling together to turn on the lights. A few poles here, a substation there, they illuminate Santa's route with a great deal of care.

"Daddy, when Santa goes into gift-giving mode, how will he find our old county road?" To the delight of all parents the answer is finally achieved, so that all of the children could simply believe. The stockings are hung and the cookies are placed, you can see the excitement on every child's face. They're tucked into bed, not stirring - not speaking, but listening intently for the old roof creaking.

Santa flies through the night among the stars in the sky, following miles and miles of transmission line. In a dark field below, he sees a lone light burning bright, giving him directions for his next stop of the night. For the first time ever, Rudolph will surely know just where to park the sled tonight.

Santa tiptoes on the roof with his gift sack in hand. Before he shimmies down the chimney, he surveys the land. Looking out across the expanse, there's not a neighbor in sight, and he whispers the words, "Thank you, SWRE, for this light."

THE GIFT OF TIME & SERVICE

It's the most wonderful time of the year! Decorated Christmas trees, nutcrackers, the nativity scene and Shrimp and Okra Gumbo are just a few of my family's holiday traditions. Of course, there is always a holiday gift exchange or two. This year, keeping with our theme of giving back, I challenge you to present a loved one with a more meaningful gift this year: the gift of time and service.

Think of a relative that "has everything they need" and get creative. Is there a task or errand that is impractical or difficult for them to complete? Tasks like changing the filter in a heating, ventilating and air conditioning system; replacing batteries in smoke and carbon monoxide detectors; or caulking around windows can help make someone's home safer or shave a few dollars off an electric bill. While you're at it, make lunch or bring a baked good. The trinity of time together, a needed home repair or chore accomplished, and a homemade treat or meal is a tough one to improve upon, as gifts go.

SWRE also appreciates the gift of your time. Whether it's spent in attendance at the annual meeting, where we get valuable feedback on how to continually improve our processes and operations, or it's a moment taken to alert us to a problem you notice with a power line or meter, those small yet meaningful measures of your time allow us to thrive. Your willingness to engage with the co-op and frequent role as our eyes and ears in the field enable us to maintain a level of service that we're proud of.

So why not extend that tradition of providing gifts of time and service to those closest to you this year? Take a look around an older relative's home for any leaky faucets or outdoor lightbulbs that need replacing. Check for loose door or window locks, or clean an out-of-reach window. Your thoughtful gift will keep on giving, as it makes someone's life that much easier or safer.

From all of us at your electric cooperative, Merry Christmas! //

WHAT ARE CAPITAL CREDITS?

Because we are a member-owned entity, SWRE strives to operate all segments of operation at cost. As a result, any margins (profits) are returned to you the customer. Your share of these margins is called Capital Credits. At the end of the year, net margins are allocated to each customer in proportion to the customer's cooperative purchases during the year. The Board of Trustees usually decides when to retire Capital Credits based on the cooperative's financial condition at the end of the year. In the meantime, SWRE utilizes the money as working capital for operating and reinvesting in the cooperative until a determination is made.

ORU DONATES $40,000 BACK TO TEXHOMA COMMUNITIES

Operation Round Up recently awarded $40,000 in grants to 21 organizations in southwest Oklahoma and north Texas. This completes the second grant cycle for Operation Round Up, with a grand total of $65,000 donated back to SWRE communities in the foundation's first year.

This donation was made possible by SWRE members who are enrolled in the Operation Round Up program or participate in Operation Round Up PLUS. Enrolled members choose to have their electric bills rounded up to the nearest dollar amount (this is about 50 cents per month on average). The change is accumulated and distributed in lump sums to charitable causes by the Operation Round Up Board of Directors. Applications are evaluated on a number of factors and should fit within Operation Round Up's five categories of assistance: Communities, Education & Youth, Senior Citizens, Emergency Assistance and Individuals in Need.

The 2020 Operation Round Up Grant Application will be published online on May 1 and be open through October 1. Visit SWRE.com/RoundUp for more information on the foundation or call 1-800-256-7973 to make a donation.

Thank you, members!
